Selby Smith is a retired DEA agent with over 27 years of law enforcement experience. He has been teaching the use of confidential informants since 1999. He served out of Los Angeles, Islamabad, Spokane, Washington DC, Kabul, and Seattle. He finished his career as an Assistant Chief of Police in Spokane. He is the author of the book Human Intelligence.

Informants are a valuable asset in the acquisition of information and intelligence. Informants can provide real-time intelligence on criminal activities or set criminal activity into motion. However, informants can present challenges to even the most skilled controlling officer. This course will teach some of the skills needed to Identify and manage informants. Additionally, it will outline how to mitigate risk in the management of informants and when they are deployed undercover.

Topics

- How to Identify Confidential Informants (CI)
- The Flip/Cooperation
- How to manage CIs
- How to determine a CIs motivation
- How to mitigate risk while working with CIs
- CI policy: Is yours working and does it work for you?
- Risk Mitigation in street operations, undercover operations, and search warrants
